Up for Review

When we began the year we spent sometime with the local church leadership explaining the plan that will guide our activity in the district. After spending the first quarter together, we will need to review our programme.

We have met with the leaders at the beginning of the year to plan and have implemented the plan we presented. We now invite input from every church towards a better programme. We would like to improve all aspects of our strategic programme, and we need you to help us realise this.

Please approach your local church elders about any suggestion or area of concern. We would like to hear from you as to how you have experienced the programme so far.

We invite elders to send us your submissions not later than March 31, 2010.

Keep us feedback on any aspect of the programme as outlined on the 2010-2012 Roadmap and/or as seen in your local church.

Evaluate programmes such as the District Rallies, Cluster Communion Services, Pastoral Week, Strategic Programmes, Leadership Relations, Communication Strategies and so on.

Your input is extremely important to enhance our programme and ministry to you, so feel free to advise us in any aspect or area of the programme as you see a need.

WE APPRECIATE YOUR INPUT

WE TREASURE YOUR FEEDBACK

LET'S WORK TOGETHER

Each of us has to fight the battle of life, and exercise leadership in our own armour to be authentic and effective. We are to articulate our leadership contribution and occupy our leadership space with our personal identity, true to our value system, our personal style, considering our strengths and limitations, our crucible, and living and leaving a legacy that is entrenched in our God given individuality. We owe it to God our Creator and our Caller, ourselves, our world and our posterity to be leaders in the way we are; in our ontos. Men and women, blacks and whites, young and old must be leaders in their reality without imitating each other. Does that mean there's no room for learning from each other? Or are we saying everything that each possesses is good and worthy of commendation and emulation? By no means do we condone the bad that we have seen in all of these groupings but we are cautious not to say that one is better than the other. Each, especially considering its valuable lessons, must be allowed to be without being expected to conform to the expectations or demands of the other. Individual women must be leaders authentically, true to their being, without trying to wear and imitate the sternness of their male counterparts. At the same time, men individually and corporately must be leaders who lead in a manly reality, without shaming and shying away from the being of manhood. Black leaders must lead from the richness of their cultural and ontological heritage while their white counterparts must lead from theirs without any feeling their way is superior or inferior. God made each of us different from the rest so that we may each bring to bear our diversity and thereby enrich our coexistence as human beings, bringing diverse praise to Him. In our uniqueness and expression thereof, we are breaking the monotone of sameness and the boredom of duplication—

Our Mission and Purpose

We understand our mission and purpose as Seventh-day Adventists in this area to be to joyfully share and proclaim the gospel of Jesus Christ and His imminent return; calling, discipling and empowering all people for personal active faith, lifestyle and service in Jesus Christ.

Our Strategic Vision

Growing in our relationship with Christ, our brothers and sisters, and our community.
